INVITATION

Dear colleagues,

We are pleased to invite you to attend the Innsbruck Colloquium on Status Epilepticus, 2 – 4 April, 2009, which is the second in a series of international conferences starting from the London Colloquium (Shorvon et al., 2007), dedicated exclusively to the basic mechanisms, clinical research and treatment of this most extreme form of epilepsy. This conference follows in direct lineage the Marseilles Colloquium held in 1962, and the two Santa Monica meetings on this topic held in 1980 and 1997.

Status epilepticus is one of the most common neurological emergencies and even today, tonic-clonic status epilepticus carries a mortality of approximately 20% and a serious risk of cerebral damage amongst survivors. Although tonic-clonic status has been recognised as early as 2,500 years ago, it was 1825, when Calmeil introduced the term “état de mal”, which was the expression of the patients at the Salpêtrière in Paris, for this complication of epilepsy. The first documented case of an absence status seems to be described on an ex voto table in 1501 in Austria (Wolf et al., 2007).

The Innsbruck Colloquium on Status Epilepticus will summarise current knowledge in key research areas and define future research areas in status epilepticus. In a three-day meeting followed by optional half-day workshops, recent developments in basic research and clinical science will be extensively discussed. The workshops will deal with controversial issues in research, diagnosis and treatment of status epilepticus. The Innsbruck Colloquium on Status Epilepticus is held under the patronage of the CEA of the ILAE, the Austrian Chapter of the ILAE, the Medical University Innsbruck and the University College of London.

We will be more than happy to welcome you to this wonderful place in the heart of the Alps, which is not only very scenic, but of cultural and historical importance, too. As the venue of two Olympic winter games Innsbruck has great experience in hosting international events. The convention centre is located in the middle of the city and accommodation will be within walking distance. There is also easy access to public transport, which takes you to interesting places in the outskirts and the mountains. The unique social program will give you the chance to meet your colleagues and friends in a casual atmosphere and bring you close to the characteristic Tyrolean lifestyle and hospitality.

We are very confident that the Innsbruck Colloquium on Status Epilepticus 2009 will be a stimulating conference and enjoyable experience and look forward to welcoming you to Innsbruck.

CALL FOR PAPERS

Authors are invited to submit abstracts in basic science or clinical research. The abstract submission is possible online only and handled by "Epilepsia" where the abstracts will be published. All accepted abstracts will be presented as posters.

Submission deadline: January 15, 2009

Abstracts can be submitted via Internet only on www.innsbruck-se2009.eu

REGISTRATION AND HOTEL RESERVATION

To attend the Meeting, please register online on www.innsbruck-se2009.eu or fill in the enclosed registration form and return it to pcö tyrol congress. The final deadline for online, faxed or mailed conference registration forms is March 25, 2009 to allow for administration of these items. After this date, registrations have to be made on site. The deadline for early registration is January 1, 2009.

Each delegate must fill in a separate form. Please note that registration will be confirmed upon receipt of payment only. Make sure that you follow the instructions for payment of all fees involved. Payments have to be free of any bank charges for the beneficiary.

Cancellations and Refunds

Notification of cancellation must be sent in writing to pcö tyrol congress. If cancellation is received by March 1, 2009 payments will be refunded minus bank charges and a handling fee of € 50.- No refunds can be made for cancellations after this date. Please note that due to organisational reasons, all refunds will only be processed after the meeting.

Hotel Reservation

Hotel rooms at advantageous rates can be reserved through pcö tyrol congress. To reserve hotel accommodation, please fill in the appropriate section on the registration form together with your credit card details to guarantee the reservation. Please note that only a limited number of rooms are available at this time of the year and early reservations are therefore strongly recommended. In case the requested category is already fully booked, pcö tyrol congress retains the right to arrange accommodation in a different category.

The reservation deadline is March 1, 2009. Accommodation bookings received after this date cannot be guaranteed and the published rate may not apply.

Important, please note: No accommodation booking can be made unless guaranteed by a valid credit card. Your card will not be charged, the information is needed to secure your room only! All payments have to be settled directly with the hotel.

For cancellations after March 1, 2009 we retain the right to debit cancellation fees to your credit card respectively pass on your credit card details to the hotel (minimum cancellation fee is 1 night).

Check in time in most hotels is 2 p.m.

In case you will arrive at your hotel after 6 p.m., please indicate. Failure to do so might mean that your room will be released.

Any change to a reservation must be made in writing to pcö tyrol congress, NOT directly to the hotel.

GENERAL INFORMATION

About Austria

Austria has been a member of the European Union since 1995, the population is some 8 million, the capital city is Vienna (Wien). Politically, Austria is a democratic republic with the prime minister as the head of the government and parliamentary elections every five years. The formal head of state is the president, who has more representative duties than political power. The country is divided into nine federal states; Innsbruck is the capital of the state of the Tyrol. The language spoken in Austria is German, but most Austrians speak English, and many some French or Italian, too and are happy to be of service to visitors.

LOCAL TIME: GMT + 1

About Innsbruck

Innsbruck, the capital of the Tyrol, is located in the Alpine region of Austria, in the valley of the river Inn, at 580 metres above sea level. It is surrounded by mountain ranges and numerous peaks which reach an altitude of approx. 2,700 metres above sea level. The city has 130,000 inhabitants and hosts one of the oldest universities in Europe, founded in the year 1562. Today, over 30,000 students attend the university in Innsbruck. Due to its location, Innsbruck has an excellent tourist infrastructure and is best known for its rich cultural heritage, as well as for its endless opportunities in sports and recreation that include golf, hiking, climbing, rafting, paragliding, canyoning, swimming in lakes, skiing and snowboarding not only in winter time, but also in summer at one of the glaciers nearby. Innsbruck has been the host for Olympic Winter Games twice, in 1964 and 1976. In the town, some 160 restaurants, cafes and bars, most of them in walking distance to the convention centre, offer traditional Tyrolean and Austrian specialities as well as international dishes.

Weather/ Climate

With a mountain chain to protect it from the cold northern winds, Innsbruck enjoys an alpine climate. At the end of March, beginning of April, there is usually still snow even in the city. We therefore recommend you take good shoes and warm clothes with you. This is usually also the perfect skiing season.

Language

The official language of the congress is English. No simultaneous interpretation facilities will be provided during the conference.

TRAVEL TO INNSBRUCK

By Plane

Innsbruck has an international airport that is primarily served by Austrian Airlines or partner airlines. Several daily flights connect Innsbruck to European airports such as Vienna, Frankfurt or Amsterdam. Direct international flights on certain days from London, Göteborg, Rotterdam, and Stavanger. Please check your travel agent for options or check www.innsbruck-airport.com for more information.

Intercontinental travellers normally connect via Frankfurt, Vienna or Amsterdam. As many intercontinental non-stop flights arrive in Munich, this airport may also be considered as final destination. Transfer from Munich to Innsbruck is convenient by airport shuttle service or train (approx. 2 hrs transfer time) or you may rent a car at Munich and drive to Innsbruck (2 hrs drive time). For airport shuttles please see www.airport-transfer.com.

By Train

Innsbruck is connected to the dense European Inter-City railway network. Therefore, fast and convenient daily trains reach Innsbruck from all over Europe.

By Car

Innsbruck is centrally located and connected to major European motorways arriving from the North (Western Europe and Germany via Munich), from the South (Italy via Verona), from the West (Switzerland via Zurich) and from the East (Hungary via Vienna).
